

Oct 14, 2011 – GUARDIAN ANGEL, by Becky Moore, was released today from Evernight Publishing. Contemporary romance readers will enjoy this sensual tale of loss and redemption, focusing on two characters that are inexorably tied together after one brief, volatile moment in time.

Hot shot graphic novelist Sasha Mitchell is learning how to adjust to life as an underground hero with one of the hottest video games on the market. Her newfound wealth is no replacement for her brother's recent passing, though, and certainly no balm to Doctor David Ellington, who's adjusting to life without the dominating wealth of his powerful father. And even though this senator's son is far more interested in making his mark in the community through the clinic where he volunteers, he still has to overcome decades of enforced emotional barrenness to let Sasha's powerful character re-ignite his passion.

"I love the possibility of two complete strangers crossing paths for a single, stolen moment in time," said Moore. "I think love is like that ... it strikes when you're minding your own business. Whether it's someone you've just met or someone who's been in your life for years. That moment of grace, of your heart sighing. It's so romantic."

Guardian Angel is Moore's fourth contemporary romance, and her first with Evernight Publishing. After more than a dozen years working in the corporate, multi-media, and non-profit worlds, she's happy to call herself a full-time author now. "The world is tough nowadays," she said. "Front page headlines are rife with terrorism, and murder and mayhem—but books hold the key to endless imagination. If you can read it, then you can imagine and experience it. And romances ... they offer the hope of a happy ending. Of a satisfying life where the girl gets the guy, where justice is served, and all is right with the world."

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Becky Moore is a world traveler, problem solver, and crusader. She's thankful for the love of reading she inherited from her mom, mother to a superbly cool kid, wife to the world's most handsome man. She's a mental-marathon runner, a freelance photographer; faithful companion to Magnolia May the beagle, and a prolific reader and writer. And she's a freelance writer for MacMillan Publishing's Heroes & Heartbreakers blog, under the name Dolly Sickles.

In her down time, and in the real world, Becky loves to spend time with her husband and son. They live in the urban wilds of central North Carolina. Becky is an avid gardener, biker, kayaker, bicyclist, knitter, and community volunteer. She spent over a dozen years working as a writer, graphic artist, photographer and PR whiz in the pharmaceutical advertising, hi-tech, performing arts, and HIV/AIDS (grantwriting) fields before venturing into her current status of full-time author. And like her favorite characters, when you close her books, Becky will be just be a fond memory.
